Proposal Status

What is Proposal Status?

Research.gov's Proposal Status offers a single, electronic location where applicants can quickly and easily check up-to-date application status information for proposals submitted to the National Science Foundation (NSF).

Proposal Status displays all applications submitted to NSF via Grants.gov or FastLane. With Proposal Status, you can:

- View detailed application status history from submission to review to decision

- View a consolidated list of proposals submitted to NSF

- Maintain a single log-in to view applications

- Search and sort applications by multiple fields (e.g., agency, tracking number, and received date)

- View panel reviews (Principal Investigators only)

Proposal Status will help you:

- Gain easy access to proposal status information

- Check proposals in a single location

- Communicate with NSF about the status of your application

What is Research.gov?

Research.gov enables organizations and grantees to access streamlined grants management services and other resources for multiple federal agencies in one location. Led by NSF, Research.gov is the modernization of FastLane and evolves NSF's grants management systems to increase the quality and scope of services for the research community. The modernization will include moving legacy FastLane capabilities to a new, modern portal platform.
